EQUUS Unveils First Commercial Solar Photovoltaic Unit Installation in Innisfail

(Innisfail, AB) – During a media event earlier today, EQUUS REA LTD. unveiled their 30 kW solar photovoltaic (PV) unit installation, the first commercial solar PV unit in Innisfail, on the roof of their Innisfail office building.

EQUUS Chairman Glen Fox stated, “EQUUS believes in supporting alternative energy in Alberta and we are proud to be demonstrating this by becoming a solar PV micro-generator – the first commercial solar installation in Innisfail. This is one of many ways that EQUUS supports alternative energy. We also provide EQUUS members financing options and incentives for becoming solar micro-generators, as well as a Solar Preferred Supplier Program that provides EQUUS members a turn-key solution for the solar micro-generator process.”

Through a Request for Proposal process, ENMAX was selected as the vendor to complete the 30 Kw solar PV installation, which was funded in part through the Climate Change and Emissions Management Corporation’s (CCEMC) support of ENMAX’s solar leasing project.

“ENMAX works closely with its customers, providing tangible solutions as they transition to renewable energy sources,” said John Rilett, Director of Enhanced Energy Services, ENMAX. “Congratulations to EQUUS for leading the way in Innisfail and advancing the adoption of solar technologies throughout the province.”

The solar PV unit will generate 20 per cent of EQUUS’ annual power consumption at their Innisfail office building.
